On July 27, 2026, the Board of Directors (the “Board”) of Diodes Incorporated (the “Company”) elected Evan Yu to the Board, effective August 1, 2026. Mr. Yu is a seasoned global semiconductor executive with leadership experience across power products, wireless communications, ASIC, and DSP technologies. He brings strategic operating leadership, international market insight, and governance perspective developed through decades of leading multi-regional businesses, expanding product portfolios, and driving growth in technology markets.

Mr. Yu previously served as Senior Vice President, Worldwide Power Products at the Company, having joined the Company in 2008 and retired in January 2023. In his roles at the Company, Mr. Yu led global strategy and operating execution for the worldwide power products business and oversaw cross-functional teams across product development, engineering, marketing, and commercial operations in key international markets. He also drove portfolio expansion and business performance across diversified semiconductor applications and served as Asia President in addition to holding director and senior leadership roles across subsidiaries and affiliated entities.

Before joining the Company, Mr. Yu was the CEO of Commit Inc., an Asian-based wireless communications chipset company focused on 3G/4G technologies. Prior to Commit Inc., Mr. Yu worked at Texas Instruments for 15 years, where he held several key management roles, including Asia Vice President of the Application Specific Products (ASP) organization. Mr. Yu’s responsibilities in the ASP division included leading business development, marketing, and technical units of wireless communications, ASIC, DSP, broadband, and digital still camera business units. Most recently, Mr. Yu served as Chairman of the Board of Canyon Semiconductor Inc. He studied electrical engineering at Kaohsiung Institute of Technology and earned his bachelor’s degree in Electrical Engineering at Tam Kang University in Taiwan.

Mr. Yu qualifies as an independent director under the corporate governance standards of Nasdaq and the independence requirements of Rule 10A-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Mr. Yu was not appointed to the Board pursuant to any arrangement or understanding with any other person. Mr. Yu has no family relationships with any director or executive officer of the Company and there are no transactions in which Mr. Yu has an interest requiring disclosure under Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K.

Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

Diodes Incorporated Elects Evan Yu to the Board as Independent Director

Plano, Texas – July 28, 2026 -- Diodes Incorporated (Diodes) (Nasdaq: DIOD) today announced the election of Evan Yu to its Board of Directors, effective August 1, 2026. Yu is a seasoned global semiconductor executive with leadership experience across power products, wireless communications, ASIC, and DSP technologies. He brings strategic operating leadership, international market insight, and governance perspective developed through decades of leading multi-regional businesses, expanding product portfolios, and driving growth in technology markets.

Yu previously served as Senior Vice President, Worldwide Power Products at Diodes, having joined the Company in 2008 and retired in January 2023. In his roles at the Company, Yu led global strategy and operating execution for the worldwide power products business and oversaw cross-functional teams across product development, engineering, marketing, and commercial operations in key international markets. He also drove portfolio expansion and business performance across diversified semiconductor applications and served as Asia President in addition to holding director and senior leadership roles across subsidiaries and affiliated entities.

Before joining Diodes, Yu was the CEO of Commit Inc., an Asian-based wireless communications chipset company focused on 3G/4G technologies. Prior to Commit Inc., Yu worked at Texas Instruments for 15 years, where he held several key management roles, including Asia Vice President of the Application Specific Products (ASP) organization. Yu's responsibilities in the ASP division included leading business development, marketing, and technical units of wireless communications, ASIC, DSP, broadband, and digital still camera business units. Most recently, Yu served as Chairman of the Board of Canyon Semiconductor Inc. He studied electrical engineering at Kaohsiung Institute of Technology and earned his bachelor's degree in Electrical Engineering at Tam Kang University in Taiwan.

Angie Chen Button, Chairwoman of the Board of Diodes, stated, "We are delighted to welcome Evan Yu to the Diodes board as an independent director. Evan's deep expertise in power products, extensive international operating experience, and proven track record of driving growth and portfolio expansion across global semiconductor markets will be invaluable to our Board. His knowledge of our business combined with a fresh external perspective strengthens our ability to guide our long-term growth strategy and value creation for stockholders."

Yu qualifies as an independent director under the corporate governance standards of Nasdaq and the independence requirements of Rule 10A-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.
